HAUT ROC BLANQUANT

3rd wine of Château Bélair-Monange

Château Bélair, which traces its origins back to Roman times, has long been considered one of the region's very best crus. Établissements Jean-Pierre Moueix purchased the iconic Château in 2008 and renamed it Château Bélair-Monange. The name 'Monange,' in addition to its literal translation, 'my angel,' was the maiden name of Jean-Pierre Moueix's mother, Anne-Adèle, the first Moueix woman to call Saint-Émilion her home.

Château Bélair-Monange combines the terroirs of the most privileged sites of the appellation: the limestone from the central plateau parcels, situated at the highest point of Saint-Émilion, offers freshness and minerality, and delicate, lingering aromatics, while the dense, blue clay of the south slopes provides intensity, length, and a unique elegance to the wines.

The three wines of Château Bélair-Monange enjoy meticulous vineyard work undertaken with respect for the environment followed by a manual harvest once the grapes have reached optimal maturity. Vinification takes place in concrete and stainless-steel vats, where maceration and extraction are gentle and measured in order to allow the fruit its highest expression. The wines are then aged in French oak barrels.

HAUT ROC BLANQUANT, the estate's 3rd wine, is named after a historic parcel of the vineyard of Bélair-Monange. The name translates literally to "High White Rock," underscoring the vineyard's geology. Released in very limited quantities since the 2014 vintage, Haut Roc Blanquant is produced from a selection of grapes offering charm, elegance, and approachability from a young age. Supple, bright, and inviting, Haut Roc Blanquant channels the refinement of its privileged terroir coupled with an enticing, youthful, fruit-forward vibrancy.

2014 VINTAGE

*« Ripeness is all »
(Shakespeare, King Lear)*

The winter of 2013/14 saw a series of violent storms, heavy rainfall and exceptional mildness. Although the weather calmed down somewhat by the spring, the mildness remained.

The warm, dryer conditions allowed for an even flowering. Summer was again marked by powerful storms and rains but this hot, wet weather positively encouraged the active growth of the vines.

The conditions became much dryer towards the end of August, and the heat remained a constant throughout September and well into October, ensuring that 2014 would be a vintage of great quality.

Harvest took place from September 27th to October 8th.
